Tobacco Allotments For 1975 Announced

The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) today announced the acreage allotments for the 1975 crops of Kentucky - Tennessee fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco.

For the 1975 crop of Kentucky - Tennessee fire-cured (Types 22 and 23) tobacco, USDA announced a national acreage allotment of 33,072 acres. The 1974 allotment was 29,609 acres.

For dark air-cured (Types 35 and 36) tobacco, a national acreage allotment of 12,025 acres was announced for 1975. The 1974 allotment was 11,093 acres.

Acreage allotments for farms producing Kentucky - Tennessee fire-cured will be about 12.5 per cent higher, and dark air-cured allotments will be about 10 per cent higher, when compared to last year. While most farms will have increased acreage, some farms on which the acreage history of these kinds of tobacco in recent years has been substantially below the farm's allotment, the 1975 allotment will be reduced more in line with plantings, as provided by law. Notices showing the 1975 allotments for individual farms will be mailed to farm operators in the near future by local agricultural stabilization and conservation committee.

As in the past, small acreage of each kind of tobacco has been reserved for establishing allotments for farms having no tobacco history during the past five years, for correcting errors and for adjusting inequities. In referendums held in February 1973, growers of these kinds of tobacco approved marketing quotas on the 1973, 1974 and 1975 crops. These kinds of tobacco are grown principally in Kentucky and Tennessee.

Paul Ott To Be Featured At LBL's Eagle Weekend

Paul Ott, lifelong conservationist, dedicated sportsman, student naturalist, and a self-taught musician and talented producer, will be the featured speaker at the fifth annual "Great American Weekend - Eagles '75" at Kentucky Dam Village State Resort Park, February 21-23. The weekend is sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Parks in conjunction with Land Between The Lakes, TVA's outdoor recreation and environmental education center in western Kentucky and Tennessee.

Ott, nationally known for having produced numerous television announcements for the National Wildlife Federation, is presently Public Relations Director for NWF at Dixie Springs, Mississippi. He has appeared on several national radio and television programs, one of which was NBC's First Tuesday. He has also appeared on the popular country music radio show, the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville, Tennessee.

Ott's popularity began when he was the television host for a weekly wildlife show in the southeastern part of the United States. This show and his singing messages in the form of 60-second public service announcements about conservation programs triggered many requests from all over the South for his appearance as an after-dinner speaker. He blends his message with a combination of singing, accompanied by wildlife sounds and film with humorous outdoor stories that reflect his philosophies.

Many honors and awards have been bestowed on Paul Ott for his sincere efforts in conservation. He was cited as outstanding affiliate officer by the 3½ million members of the National Wildlife Federation for his work as president of the Mississippi Wildlife Federation. He was presented the National Merit Service Award by the National Garden Clubs of

Parent-Child Course Starts On Wednesday

The Parent-Child Lending Library Course of the Murray State University's Life and Learning Series will begin Wednesday, February 5, at 3:30 p.m. in Room 302 of the MSU Library, located on North 15th Street.

June W. Smith and J. C. Hainsworth will lead the discussions for the course which will meet once each week until April 1. A minimal $2.00 administration fee will be charged for the eight weeks course.

The course is primarily designed for parents of preschool children.

Basic toys will be used to teach different concepts and to enhance language development. At the course sessions, parents learn to work with the toys and games and then borrow them to take home to use with their own children.

After completing the course, parents are free to borrow these toys, as well as additional toys, just as one would borrow a book from a library. For each toy, there are easy-to-follow directions for several learning activities that teach specific concepts and skills. A large variety of toys are available, many of which have been donated by America's leading toy manufacturers.

At the course sessions, parents view filmstrips showing several different adults playing the games with their children. Those taking the course practice playing the games and discuss the methods involved.

Course sessions are also planned to allow plenty of time for parents to discuss their own problems relating to education or child growth.

Weather Forecast

Cool with rain likely today and tonight. High today in the mid to upper 40s, low tonight in the mid 30s. Continued cloudy and cool with slight chance of rain Wednesday, high in the upper 30s to low 40s.

Outlook Thursday through Saturday: Cloudy with chance of showers Thursday. Partly cloudy Friday and Saturday. Cooling trend throughout the period. High in the 30s. Lows in the 20s Friday, lowering to the teens by Saturday.

NOT EVEN A WEEK — Signs erected by the Murray Street Department at the entrances to Murray were short-lived as vandals downed them within a week after they were put up. All but two of the seven signs were made victims of the vandals, according to Mayor John Scott, who said no decision has been made as to whether to put the signs back. The signs cost the city about $40 each.

Kentucky Has Good Chance Of Getting Project, Carroll Says

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Julian Carroll has said Kentucky has a good chance of getting a new $237 million project for converting coal into a clean, synthetic fuel and is working on another one.

Kentucky is one of four Appalachian states in the running for a demonstration plant to which the federal government has agreed to pay $237 million, Carroll said Monday.

It is unrelated to the $80 million coal liquefaction plant already approved for the Catlettsburg area as a joint effort including private industry and the federal and state governments. Two-thirds of the money for that project will come from Washington while Kentucky will pay up to $6.4 million.

State Development Secretary Dee Akers said Kentucky also was looking into a new coal refinement process some experts think is "better than any we have seen to date." He said planning was not far enough along on the project to give any specifics.

Carroll and Akers made their statements at a news conference in which Carroll announced appointment of Louisville businessman John Y. Brown Jr. as unsalaried chairman of a newly established Governor's Economic Development Commission. Carroll also announced that he was naming Larry Townsend, a business associate of Brown's, as his commerce Commissioner to succeed Damon Harrison, who will join Carroll's planning office.

Carroll said the new $237 million project would use both the gasification and liquefaction processes, which produce gas and oil. But it also will produce a third level of fuel called "char," which he said also was a valuable coal substitute. Akers explained later char is the powdery of solid residue remaining from the other processes and which still can be burned at what is believed to be a relatively pollution-free level.

The U.S. Department of Interior has awarded a contract for the project but the site has not been selected, Akers said.

Akers said he felt the project could be located anywhere in eastern Kentucky because that was the type coal found in the other three states also being considered, all in the Appalachian area.

"We are going after this plant and our chances of getting it are very good," Carroll declared.

"Not only does Kentucky need this plant, the nation needs the plant where the coal is — and that is Kentucky," he said. "The fulfillment of our opportunity as a provider of the energy needs of much of the nation lies in the development of Kentucky's coal reserves."

Kentucky apparently got into simple filling requirements.

Movement Seeks To Turn LBL To National Park

CADIZ, Ky. (AP) — A group called the "Between the Lakes Committee" is circulating a petition in six western Kentucky counties urging that operation of the Land Between the Lakes recreational area be taken away from the Tennessee Valley Authority.

TVA's operation of the area, the petition charges, has resulted in "total destruction of the confidence of the people in the integrity of and motives of TVA."

The movement flared up following TVA's formal request for control of some Trigg County roads located between Kentucky Lake and Lake Barkley.

Promoters at the group's organizational meeting Sunday said they were concerned that TVA might close roadways leading to cemeteries in the LBL area.

The petition, which TVA officials in Knoxville said had not been brought to their attention, accused the agency of "devastation of a people and culture, continued devastation of trees... by cutting of timber for lumber and pulpwood operations (and) assuring the loss of the wild turkey flocks that date from colonial days."

A spokesman for the group said the petition would be sent to Kentucky and Tennessee congressmen.

The LBL area, before TVA began acquisition of the property, separated the Tennessee and Cumberland rivers, and more than 900 families lived in the section.

President Indicates Possible Compromise On Tax Cut Measures

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, already put on notice by congressional Democrats that his budget proposals will undergo substantial modification, indicated today he may be willing to compromise with Congress on tax-cut legislation.

"As far as we've been able to determine the details of the (House) Ways and Means Committee tax package is not too far from what we propose," Ford said in comments relayed to reporters in Atlanta by White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen.

Ford arrived in Atlanta Monday for a two-day visit that included a meeting Monday with a group of Southeastern governors and today with editors and broadcasters from five Southern states. Nessen relayed to reporters Ford's remarks to the off-the-record meeting with the editors and broadcasters.

The House Ways and Means Committee voted Monday night in favor of a $8.4 billion tax cut for individuals this year and was scheduled today to take up various proposals for a rebate of 1974 taxes that Americans now are calculating on their Form 1040s.

Free Tax Assistance Offered By Students

Free assistance in preparing income tax returns is being offered to students and lower income taxpayers in the Murray area by a group of students at Murray State University.

Dr. William J. Grasty, chairman of the Department of Accounting and Finance, said the students will be available to provide assistance at the following times and places:

From 2 to 5:30 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 6, and Thursday, Feb. 20, in Meeting Room 4 of the Waterfield Student Union Building on the campus and from 8:30 a.m. to noon on Saturday, Feb. 8, and Saturday, Feb. 22, in the Community Room of the Federal Savings and Loan at 608 Main Street.

Additional sessions will be planned, according to Grasty, if the demand for assistance requires them.

Students involved in the program are members of the Accounting Society who have attended a Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) class sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service and taught by Dr. Robert Warren of the Murray State faculty.

Grasty said the VITA program "provides an excellent opportunity for these students to assist taxpayers who have fairly simple filing requirements."

The tax cut voted by the panel would primarily benefit families earning less than $20,000 a year.

Before approving the tax-cut, the committee rejected a modified version of Ford's requested tax cut plan in yet another demonstration of the Democratic majority's disapproval of the President's economic-energy program.

While the Ways and Means panel hammered out the tax cut bill, lawmakers were studying Ford's $349 billion budget that he submitted Monday for the next fiscal year.

The clear consensus emerged that the budget would be re-ordered to provide more funding for social programs while slashing defense and foreign assistance spending.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., while commending the President for facing up to the "gloomy picture" of inflation and unemployment, said he would oppose Ford's proposal to place a 5 per cent ceiling on Social Security benefit increases. He also called for at least $7.8 billion in public service job funding, as compared to the $1.3 billion in Ford's budget.

Gas Rationing Proposal Ridiculed By President

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — President Ford, after winning support from eight Southern governors in his opposition to gas rationing, heaped ridicule today on calls by some Congressional Democrats for rationing.

In remarks prepared for a convention of representatives of Opportunities Industrialization Centers, which provide job training and placement, Ford said rationing recommendations remind him "of the difference between washing a car and having it tuned up."

"Washing a car will make it look shiny, but it will not make it run better."

Ford contended rationing would penalize lower income Americans "because those who needed extra gas would be forced to buy coupons from those who use less than the allotment."

He estimated that such transactions would mean that some Americans would have to pay up to $1.75 a gallon for gasoline.

"Even if it were workable, gasoline rationing would not go to the heart of the problem, which is reducing total oil consumption," the President said. "Gasoline is only about 40 per cent of a barrel of crude oil. The gasoline rationing advocates offer no solution on how to save on the other 60 per cent of that barrel of crude."

The eight governors were unanimous in opposing rationing at the consumer level, but many of them remained skeptical about Ford's own energy proposals.

Owensboro Man To Address Club At Clergy Observance Here

Jack Keeney, Owensboro, will address the Murray Civitan Club at its annual observance of International Clergy Week, which is set for February 2-8 this year.

Wayne Williams, club president, said the Murray club's observance would be held at 7:00 p.m. on Thursday, February 6 at Seven Sea's Restaurant.

The dates of Clergy Week were set to include the anniversary of the sinking of the U. S. S. Dorchester during World War II.

When the Dorchester sank within 27 minutes of being torpedoed on February 3, 1943, four chaplains gave their life jackets to others and went down with the ship, arms locked together and voices raised in prayer. This heroic deed of brotherhood and love has been a source of inspiration to others. "Civilians all over the world remember the sacrifice of four men of God—a rabbi, a priest, and two ministers—who gave their lives that others might live," said President Williams of the Murray Civitan Club.

"We want this to be a special time of saying 'Thank you' to our servants of God right here in Murray."

The four chaplains who gave their lives for others on the Dorchester were George L. Fox and Clark V. Poling, the Protestants; John P. Washington, the Roman Catholic; and Alexander D. Goode, the Jew.

The national observance in the United States will be held February 2, in Atlanta, Georgia.

Mrs. Gerald Ford, America's first lady, is honorary chairman of the event in the United States. In accepting the chairmanship of the Civitan Event, she said, "We sometimes fear today that religion is losing its influence on our way of life. I hope this is not so, for this country was founded by men who left Europe and came here to worship God in their own way. Catholics, Jews and Protestants made this country as it is, united under God. And so it is fitting that we should pay tribute, during International Clergy Week, to the four chaplains who by their example emphasized the daily sacrifices and devotion shown by our clergy throughout their lives."

The Albuquerque, New Mexico Civitan Club originated the idea of honoring the four chaplains in mid-1960. Since then Civitans have spread the original plan to show appreciation to all clergymen.

Dr. Jane Wells

Interested in improving their skills in human relations are most cordially invited to attend the classes, and persons may enroll by calling 762-2094 between 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, a spokesman said, adding there are no enrollment fees.

Human Relations Course Offered To Local Government Workers

A course in Effective Human Relations will be offered free of charge to all employees of city and county government offices in the Murray-Calloway County area.

The course, especially designed for public employees, will begin Thursday, February 20, at 7:00 p.m. at the Calloway County Health Department, and will be conducted in six weekly sessions, two hours each. The objective of the course is to help public employees become more effective in working with people both inside and outside their respective offices.

This course is one of the results of a research conducted by the Management Department, Murray State University, under a Title I grant of the Higher Education Act. Dr. Roy Kirk is the research project director, and Dr. Rex F. Galloway is the project coordinator.

"Effective Human Relations" will be taught by Dr. Jane Wells, Assistant Professor in the Department of Management, Murray State University. Dr. Wells has been a member of the Management faculty for eleven years. She earned both the Master of Business Administration Degree and the Ph. D. Degree from Indiana University.

Dear Abby

They came to dinner but their hosts didn't

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a construction worker. George rarely meets a man on his job with whom he cares to socialize, so I was quite surprised when he told me he had become friendly with a co-worker who wanted us to come to his home for dinner on Saturday night.

I told George that I thought a dinner invitation ought to come from the man's wife, so he mentioned it to the man, and his wife called me and made it official for 7 o'clock. George and I arrived promptly. They live in a lovely new home, nicely furnished. She served a cocktail, then ushered us into the dining room where the table was beautifully set—for TWO!

I couldn't believe my eyes, so I asked: "Aren't you people eating, too?" She said: "Oh, no, we always eat at 6 and are in bed by 10."

She served my husband and me while her husband sat in the other room. I've never felt so uncomfortable in all my life.

After dinner, we all had an after-dinner drink and talked. I kept my eye on my watch, remembering their 10 o'clock curfew.

At 9:30 we said our goodbyes, thanking them for the lovely evening.

My question: Should I return the dinner invitation, and, knowing they eat at 6, should I specify that time? And if so, should I serve them separately and have a late lunch ourselves? Or should we all eat together? DUMB ME

DEAR DUMB: Reciprocate with a 6 o'clock dinner. Eat together, and be sure you don't forget their 10 o'clock curfew. After you reciprocate, you should know whether you and your husband have enough in common with this couple to want to see them again.

DEAR ABBY: Can anyone possibly have too many friends? We are both near 80, and have a big house because we raised a big family. We dearly love to have our children and grandchildren come back to visit, and we'd be lonesome if they didn't, but our relatives bring their friends, and our friends bring their relatives and I'm lucky if I get a chance to change the sheets before another crowd appears.

We have a good garden but I have to give away the surplus because all this company never gives me a chance to can.

We do love them, Abby, but I am dreadfully tired from all that marketing, housekeeping and cooking. Is there a tactful way to slow down their visits without stopping them completely? TIRED IN VERMONT

DEAR TIRED: Your problem isn't the number of guests you have, it's the number of non-contributing guests. Tell them you dearly love their visits, but they will have to pitch in and help with the marketing, cooking and housekeeping. And anyone who's there during canning season can expect to help with the canning, too!

DEAR ABBY: This is in reply to "TORN," who resisted accepting her husband's 12-year-old son into the second-time-around family. (His real mother didn't want him because he was a problem.)

Although I've never been asked to accept a stepson, I've been a foster mother, and have taken several "problem" adolescent "sons" into my home to mingle with my own teen-agers. It can work out well for everyone, but it takes a lot of love, love, and more love.

I mean the kind of love that makes a boy know that he is a worthwhile person—not just a problem kid who had come to be "reformed" by us. We are even more patient with a foster child because we realize that he's been through a lot of unhappiness for his young years. (Otherwise why would he need a home?) But let him know that we think he's got the stuff to overcome the problems of his past.

You can bet there is always plenty of jealousy and in-fighting among the children, but we apply the same rules to our "new" sons as we apply to our own. When foster children gain confidence and security it does wonders for their behavior.

I hope "TORN" reads this, and opens up her heart to her problem stepson. BEEN THERE IN GEORGIA

DEAR BEEN: So do I. You're a real Georgia peach!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

BE HONEST WITH YOUR HEALTH

Too often, people will try to convince themselves that very evident symptoms of an illness do not really exist or will disappear if they will just forget about them. This type of attitude can only lead to more serious problems in the long run. A disease in its earliest stages is usually much easier to treat and cure.

Never be afraid to find out about something that is bothering you. Most often your doctor will be able to diagnose your problem quickly. Then, not only will you be feeling better physically but you will have great mental relief as well.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1975

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

A less stimulating day than you may wish, but you can cover a lot of ground by planning wisely and eliminating all nonessentials from your program.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)

Planetary influences, auspicious, stimulate your ingenuity, good humor, affability and precision. Anything less than your best won't give others the picture of the REAL you.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Your intuition should be strong now; double-check to make sure you are not forgetting small details; and all should go well. Romance favored.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Continuing good influences stimulate efforts and top-level thinking. Check possibilities for making sound investments.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Exercise your capabilities to keep the good things going, to preserve order and to maintain a high degree of attainment. Straightforward action will command respect.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Pay no attention to dissenters and pessimists. Go about your work and other activities with good will and a bit of finesse. You can have an unusually satisfactory day.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Good planetary influences! A time to "dress up" old ideas and methods and make them more practical. Your artistry and creativity stimulated.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Don't try to buck present trends or you may find yourself at unhappy variance with associates who could be helpful. Scrutinize all offerings carefully.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Past achievements can be correctly appraised now—for what to do and what NOT to do in the future. Your ingenuity will show you how to capitalize on experience.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

With a little added vigor and determination, and a well-arranged schedule, you can propel yourself further toward ultimate aims. Emphasize optimism!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Capitalize on your artistic talents and handle your obligations in a productive way and you will reap fine returns. This day has many fine advantages, benefits.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Planets fairly generous, but here and there are traps to beset the off-guard individual. Be firm about going forward, but as diligent in detecting flaws.

YOU BORN TODAY have a bright, alert mind and unusual physical dexterity. Your enthusiasm for life and all that it holds knows no bounds, and you are always eager and ready to accept new ideas. Normally a cooperative worker and partner, you may, however, go about things in your own way at times, forgetting others concerned in your plans. In fact, you can be extremely erratic and unsystematic in your methods, but you DO get things done eventually. Procrastination is one of the traits you MUST learn to conquer; also a tendency toward excessive volubility. Under ordinary circumstances, you are clear-sighted and realistic but, when your emotions take over, your mental vision becomes blurred, and judgment suffers. Your talents are many but you probably would be happiest in the fields of literature, music, painting, science or politics. Birthdate of: Adlai Stevenson, Amer. statesman.

Bro. Hampton, Dr. Roos, And Mrs. Ward, Speakers

The Murray Business and Professional Women's Club held its regular January dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. at the Murray Woman's Club House. Bro. Ronald Hampton, assistant pastor at Memorial Baptist Church, entertained with several numbers while accompanying himself at the piano. He was introduced by Mrs. Connie White.

Mrs. Euphie Ward, club member and director of the NEEDLINE, spoke on the program of the NEEDLINE which has been established here in Murray. She said they were making great strides forward but are still struggling financially. Many local citizens have been helped by this service.

Dr. David Roos, chairman of the NEEDLINE committee and pastor of the First Christian Church, showed a film on "Tell Me Where To Turn" which was enlightening, interesting, and though provoking. Dr. Roos spoke of the many people who use the organization each day and how it has helped many persons both as an information and referral service.

Mrs. Ward who was introduced by Mrs. Opal Roberts introduced Dr. Roos.

Baptist Young Women Meet With Mrs. Mathis; Mrs. Moody, Speaker

The Baptist Young Women of First Baptist Church met Tuesday, January 28, at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Treva Mathis, with Mary Holland, president, presiding.

After the prayer calendar and scripture reading, the group decided to provide the patients at the Murray-Calloway County Convalescent Division with potted plants as the mission action project for the month. Those not able to visit the hospital will write letters to the servicemen of the church during the next month.

The day and time of the group's monthly meeting was discussed, and it was decided to change the day to Thursday and the time to seven p. m., beginning with next month's meeting.

East Elementary PTC Plans Meet

The East Elementary School Parent-Teacher Club will meet Thursday, February 6, at seven p. m. at the school.

James McCall's physical education class will present a tumbling act for the program. All parents, teachers, and interested persons are invited to attend, said Hal Winchester, president of the PTC.

Mrs. Reita Moody was guest speaker at the meeting and presented an interesting program on how cultural changes have affected family life.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Mathis at the close of the meeting. Those attending were Genevieve Adams, Cindy Ragsdale, Debbie Newell, Debbie Settle, Carolyn Burgett, Treva Mathis, Mary Holland, Ruth Ann Hook, Judy Kaufman, Jackie Harrison, and Mrs. Moody. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, February 20 at seven p. m., at the home of Genevieve Adams.

French toastwiches

Here's a filling new sandwich with great taste and lots of protein—place two slices of summer sausage (three if they are the smaller variety) and your favorite cheese between two slices of bread. Dip the bread into egg and milk mixture as you would for French toast and cook in frying pan or on greased cookie sheet in hot oven until crisp and lightly browned, turning once.

Sunshine Club Meets, Home, Mrs. Easley

The home of Mrs. Linda Easley was the scene of the January meeting of the Sunshine Homemakers Club with the president, Mrs. Patty Sheridan, presiding.

Mrs. Easley gave the devotion. Mrs. Nona Tabers, secretary, called the roll, read the minutes, and gave the financial report.

Presenting the program were DECA members from the Murray Vocational School who demonstrated a contest on gift wrapping which will be given at a later meeting. They also gave an interesting talk on various activities of the Distributive Education Class.

DECA members participating were Rita Watkins, Cindy Bennett, Rita Kimbro, and Donna Tabers.

At the noon hour a buffet lunch was served. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, February 18, at 9:30 a. m. at the home of Nona Tabers.

House inventory

The number of unsold new homes is increasing along with prices. The U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development pegs the average cost of a new home at a record $35,000, up 50 per cent over the last three years while the number of housing units either under construction or completed, but unsold, is reported at its highest level since 1968.

Teen-age Drunk Drivers

A new study on teen-age drinking and driving is bad news for anyone who cares about the future of America's youth.

The survey, taken at a cost of $100,000 for the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, concludes:

"There is an alarming amount of drinking and driving taking place among a large mainstream group of United States Youth.

"In fact, high school students are in contact with alcohol-related situations almost as often as adults are today."

AMONG THE STUDY'S other disturbing findings were:

—Many teen-agers report they often have driven when they were "really pretty drunk."

—One-fourth say they have driven once or twice when they knew they were too drunk to drive.

—One-fourth have driven three or more times when drunk.

—Thirty-two per cent say they were a passenger at least once a month in a car operated by a heavily drinking driver.

James B. Gregory, the safety agency's administrator, said of the report: "I don't know whether you'd call it surprising, alarming or frightening."

WE'D CALL IT ALL THREE. Since alcohol is involved in half the nation's highway fatalities, which totaled 54,600 in 1973, teen-age drinking clearly is responsible for many thousands of avoidable deaths.

The problem isn't going to be easy to handle. The study found that scare tactics and legal threats did not discourage youths from drinking and driving.

Nevertheless it is a problem that must be tackled jointly by parents, churches, schools and safety groups. Otherwise today's teen-age drinking parties will nurture tomorrow's alcoholics, tomorrow's killer drivers and tomorrow's bodies alongside the highway.

Abuse Of Privileges

By Anthony Harrigan

At a time when America's armed forces need to be strengthened, it is imperative that the services and those activities which are a source of irritation to the taxpayers. Operation of low-cost food, clothing and liquor stores—commissaries or military exchanges—and the provision for "space available" flights on government aircraft by military dependents and retired personnel belong in this category.

There is no reason why the armed services should be operating stores for active duty and retired military personnel except at a few isolated military bases and stations. The rationale for the commissary and PX in the old days was that servicemen received meager salaries. But that day is long gone. Today, salaries account for 56 per cent of the defense budget. Americans in uniform don't need a price "break" on their groceries—or their alcoholic beverages, for that matter.

Moreover, anyone who lives near a military base knows that there is great abuse of commissary privileges. Every 18-year-old seems to know someone who has a commissary card and who can buy a case of beer at low cost. Men who have been retired from the service for decades load up on low-cost groceries at the commissary for their holiday parties and other entertainments as well as weekly food needs.

As a result of the spread of commissary privileges, some bases have taken on the aspect of discount centers as crowds of dependents and retired personnel jam them to make their purchases which are partially subsidized by the taxpayers.

Equally objectionable are the free airplane flights enjoyed by dependents and retired military personnel. No reason exists why the U. S. government should provide free airline service for this multitude.

Because a man served 30 years in one of the services is no excuse for giving him a lifetime ticket for holiday travel to visit his children in faraway spots or to take vacations in Madrid or Rio. Yet thousands of former military people and their dependents rely on "space available" flights for holidays at home and abroad.

If so much space is truly available, then there's something seriously wrong with the operation of military personnel-carrying aircraft. Flights should be cut back and funds saved for truly essential military purposes such as badly needed new combat planes.

Congress should insist that these subsidized operations be ended or severely restricted. Ideally, commissaries should be abolished. If Congress won't do that, then, at the very least, it should rule that commissaries and PX facilities are open only to active duty personnel—and limit the number and types of offerings.

In the case of "space available" travel, that should be limited to active duty personnel and to dependents experiencing family or medical emergencies. Space available flights should be completely ended for retired military people.

The U. S. armed forces face tremendous needs in this period of inflation. New weapons systems are dandy. After all, Ben Franklin hit Philadelphia carrying a bun in his pocket, and made a fortune preaching "a penny saved, is a penny earned."

If the services won't act, Congress has the duty to do so.

Comments From Others

FREDONIA, KANS., CITIZEN: "Being particularly conscious of the cost of paper, our main contribution to economy is trying to conserve paper and gasoline. There are a lot of things you can carry home under your arm without a paper sack—or those little string carryalls are handy. After all, Ben Franklin hit Philadelphia carrying a bun in his pocket, and made a fortune preaching 'a penny saved, is a penny earned.'"

That brings up the case of Sen. Kelsey Friend, D-Pikeville, who unabashedly pushed for some black lung legislation in the last session and happens to be one of the state's wealthy black lung law practitioners. The ethics board has been agonizing over that issue for months, and this week Friend for the first time may make an appearance to explain or defend his legislative actions.

There are so many angles to the Friend matter it is hopeless to sum it all up briefly. By getting its teeth into a genuine ethics issue the board may further its understanding of the elusive aspects.

Dix has come to the conclusion that too many guidelines may be like too many fences, hemming in a legislator and keeping him from normal interaction. "We could prepare and write down so much that we could conceivably severely restrict a legislator's ability to function," he said. "And maybe an irresponsible lawmaker could use those strictures to duck an issue he should be facing."

Dix is concerned about the danger of "disenfranchising the legislator, rendering him ineffectual."

Anyway, can you decree that all members of Kentucky's General Assembly should be ethical?

"I think you can legislate minimums," he said. "You can outline what's good and bad. After that each case has to be judged on its merits."

But the shades of gray bother Dix—the different meanings, varying motives, coincidental timings, relevant backgrounds to an ethical dispute.

"For every solution, I find you darn near create another problem," he said.

Garrott's Galley

The Life-Style Of Us Kentucky Hillbillies Ain't Bad At All

By M. C. Garrott

Why is it that people in other areas of the country think we Kentuckians are a bunch of bearded, beady-eyed individuals who go around barefooted in overalls and an old, floppy, black hat and packing a gun as if looking for a mountain shoot-out with a feuding neighbor?

Apparently a lot of them do. Often we are called or referred to as "Kentucky hillbillies" by these poorly informed people. Let's be patient with them.

A good example is Betty Dickson's experience in moving to Murray almost two years ago. Betty is the wife of Dave Dickson, who manages the Murray operation of The Tappan Company. Betty and Dave had lived all of their lives in Mansfield, Ohio, where the company is headquartered, when they learned in early summer of 1973 that they would be moving to Kentucky and to Murray.

Dave had been to Murray on numerous occasions on Tappan business, but Betty had never been here. She admits to knowing very little about Kentucky—much less Murray—when the moving van arrived.

"Betty, do you mean that you are going down there and live with all those hillbillies!" she quotes some of her friends as exclaiming when they found out she and Dave were moving. "How on earth will you live? What will you do?"

When the breadwinner is transferred, however, the rest of the family simply packs up and follows along. That's life, especially in the industrial world, and the Dicksons were no exception. It wasn't long, though, before the entire family felt right at home in Murray and had learned to live their new-found life-style among the "hillbillies."

Betty hadn't been in Murray long before she was writing to her friends and former neighbors back in Mansfield describing the way folks live in Murray. In one letter, she enclosed a picture of Murray State's new Roy Stewart Stadium and penned this comment: "This is where the 'hillbillies' play football—and on artificial turf, too!"

In another, she enclosed pictures of some of the homes in Murray with this notation: "By the way, these are some of the $75,000 and $100,000 homes these 'hillbillies' live in." In still another, she wrote: "And you should see how these 'hillbillies' dress! To the girls from even the most formal drop-in morning coffee get-togethers to their formal dances." Then in still another she commented: "There is hardly anyone around this weekend. They are all cruising around Kentucky Lake, the world's largest artificial lake, in their air-conditioned houseboats."

If there is one thing I know, Betty wasn't describing the Garrotts' life-style to her friends. It is interesting and refreshing, however, to see the reaction to our way of life by people moving in from out of state. I love my life in Murray and lose very little sleep over being looked upon as a "Kentucky hillbilly." In fact, I'm proud of it!

O, to be young again!

When I was a youngster, about the longest trip I had made by the time I was 22 years old other than back and forth from Mayfield to Murray was by train to Louisville the day I was inducted into the Army. Today, our young people throw a few things in a bag and race off to all parts of the country—and even the world—at the drop of a hat.

A good example is Mike Finley, our 20-year-old neighbor. Mike decided quite suddenly during his Christmas vacation that he would go to California and spend some time with his mother's sister and her family. They live at Fullerton in the Los Angeles area.

The day after Christmas he caught a bus out of Paris, made one change in Memphis and 2½ days later after a straight-through, 2,300-mile run, he was in Los Angeles. "I thought we would never get out of Texas!" he exclaimed, having traveled the state from Texarkana to El Paso, which is something like 1,100 miles in itself.

While in Los Angeles, however, he had a ball, during all the traditional tourist "rubber-necking and eye-balling" and taking in all the sights from Disneyland to Universal Studios in Hollywood.

Now safely back home after another 2½ days on the bus and getting into another semester at Murray State, he said, "I've never seen so many people and so much traffic in my life. It was fun, but I haven't lost a thing west of Memphis. I'm just gonna sweat it out right here in Kentucky with the rest of the hillbillies."

En route along the West Kentucky Turnpike a couple of weeks ago and on the way to the Murray-Morehead basketball game we were listening to WHAS radio in Louisville. The young man on the air was telling about a meeting the Republicans were having that morning at a local motel. They were interviewing possible candidates for governor.

"We have just been informed," one of his fellow commentators interrupted, "that the interviews have suddenly been called off. The report from a very reliable source is that they've just received a telephone call from San Clemente. HE'S available."

Let's Stay Well

New Test For Virus And Infant Diarrhea

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Infant diarrhea is a widespread, serious, infectious disease. It has not been completely understood and has presented stubborn problems for public health authorities in its prevention and treatment.

Scientists at the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases announced recently that new tests indicate that infant diarrhea around the world may have a common cause—a virus.

Research on stools of infants with severe diarrhea has revealed particles which are virus-like. They are unrelated to "intestinal flu" or to bacteria, such as Salmonella infections, which commonly cause diarrhea. However, these virus-like particles may be related to similar viruses which affect certain animals—infect mice and newborn calves.

Researchers found the infant diarrhea virus in the United States, Canada, England and Australia. It is probably present in many other nations.

An important step in tracking down this common cause of diarrhea and in learning more about its methods of spreading is the development of a new laboratory test for the virus.

Inasmuch as the cause is a virus, and since some viruses develop immunity, hope rises that an antidiarrheal vaccine may be developed which can prove effective as a preventive. Such a vaccine likely would not be useful in treating an active case of diarrhea.

The new test may prove helpful in clarifying the natural history of this infectious disease and assist in uncovering related causes and in understanding more completely the epidemiology of infant diarrhea.

This new research may lead to the prevention and control of one more common infant infection which has traditionally caused suffering and has elevated the morbidity and mortality of millions of infants, especially those living under unhygienic conditions.

This new work is in the research and development stage and the test is not yet available to the public.

Q Mrs. E.S. wants to know if large doses of vitamin C really prevent colds.

A Massive doses of vitamin C are considered by many authorities as no more effective than moderate doses of this vitamin. The Food and Nutrition Board of the National Academy of Sciences—National Research Council recommends 50 to 60 mg of vitamin C daily for adults.

Q Mrs. W.A. inquires whether a newborn infant can have too much insulin.

A A newborn may have an excess of insulin in several conditions, such as its mother being diabetic, an insulin-forming tumor of its pancreas, or one of several other diseases. Early diagnosis of the cause and appropriate treatment are essential.

Mears Unhappy With Loss At Auburn And With Loss Of King

By ED SHEARER
AP Sports Writer

Fifteenth-ranked Tennessee's championship hopes in the Southeastern Conference basketball race were jolted twice Monday.

The first blow came shortly after noon when Athletic Director Bob Woodruff instructed Coach Ray Mears to withhold freshman sensation Bernard King from competition pending a review of his collegiate eligibility.

Then, playing without the high-scoring star, the Volunteers dropped a 62-59 decision at Auburn Monday night, leaving Tennessee two games behind co-leaders Alabama and Kentucky in the title chase.

Seventh-ranked Alabama was impressive in burying Vanderbilt 86-72 but fifth-ranked Kentucky struggled to a 77-76 triumph over Louisiana State.

In other SEC action, Norm Caldwell tossed in seven points in the second overtime period as Florida edged Mississippi State 107-104 and Mississippi snapped a 10-game losing streak with a 93-87 decision over Georgia.

Despite the loss of King, Mears thought the Vols should have downed Auburn, which remained one game off the pace in the conference race.

"The two turnovers were the difference," Mears said, referring to a pair of costly mistakes by the Vols when Tennessee was leading 55-50 with 6:27 remaining and went into a stall.

Auburn's Gary Redding converted the two turnovers into baskets that trimmed Tennessee's lead to 55-54.

Then seldom-used junior Dan Cox tallied six straight points to trigger the Auburn victory.

"Kentucky came in here with one of the finest teams in the United States and didn't win, but we should have won," said Mears. "We just can't play any better. When you're outweighed by 20 pounds and out-heighted by three inches, we just couldn't play any better."

"The loss of King was damaging," said Coach Bob Davis of Auburn. "This was a game which Tennessee needed to win. They would have been in good position in the SEC race, but now it's just wide open."

Cox, Wayne Bracy and Redding tallied 14 each for Auburn and Ernie Grunfeld led the Vols with 22.

Alabama built a 19-point lead in the first half and coasted to its victory over Vandy. Charles Cleveland led the way with 22 points and Leon Douglas added 19. Butch Feher had 23 for Vandy.

"We've had two real intense games back-to-back," said Tide Coach C. M. Newton. "We need some rest. We've got players who put a lot into it."

"We were very thankful to get away with the victory," said Kentucky Coach Joe Hall of the victory at LSU. "You have to give LSU a great deal of credit. They played with a great deal of enthusiasm and they really went to the boards extremely well."

Kentucky, which trailed throughout most of the first half when LSU shot 66 per cent, took command in the second half, building an eight-point lead late in the game. But then the Cats missed the first shot on four one-and-one free throw situations and allowed LSU to close to within a point.

Kevin Grevey and Jimmy Dan Conner paced Kentucky with 17 points each and Glenn Hansen had 26 for the Tigers.

Matt Meibers tallied 23 points and Dave Shepherd 20 as Ole Miss won its first conference game. Georgia got outstanding scoring from a trio of freshmen — Jack Dorsey with 29 points, Charley Dorsey 22 and Tony Flanagan 20.

Caldwell scored 24 points for Florida and Gene Shy had 28 as the Gators tripped State. Jerry Jenkins led State with a 35 and Rich Knarr, who forced the first overtime with a 22-foot jumper, added 29.

In games involving area independents, Georgia Tech edged Samford 78-75 in overtime and Furman trimmed Jacksonville 92-90 on Clyde Mayes' jumper with one second remaining.

Mike Green had 19 points for Tech and Jim Wood added 18 points and 18 rebounds. Julius Norman had 19 for Samford.

TENNIS

Morehead Only Conference School To Win Monday

By The Associated Press
Kentucky's leading Ohio Valley Conference school, Western Kentucky, watched a one-point edge vanish with 40 seconds left in overtime as host Dayton pulled away to an 86-84 non-conference basketball victory.

In other games Monday involving Kentucky OVC schools, Morehead downed visiting Georgia State 81-69, Oral Roberts invaded Murray for a 90-79 win and visiting Virginia Tech downed Eastern Kentucky 90-81.

At Dayton, Johnny Davis put in eight of his game-high 26 points in the overtime period to lead the home team. With Dayton and Western Kentucky both shooting 51 per cent from the floor and hitting 38 field goals, the game was decided at the foul line.

Western, led by Mike Odemns with 23 points, had a 38-36 half-time lead, but Dayton pulled away to a 70-64 advantage late in the second period.

Odemns scored with 1:13 remaining to tie the game 74-74 and force it into overtime.

Two free throws by Dayton's Joe Fisher, one by Davis and a basket by Allen Elijah in the closing seconds of overtime secured the win for Dayton. The Ohio school evened its record at 9-9. Western is 10-7.

Morehead, led by George Williams with 24 points and 11 rebounds, took a quick 8-0 lead over Georgia State. Arch Johnson added 23 as Morehead built a 44-32 halftime advantage and never trailed.

Georgia State, led by James Atkinson with 25 points, cut the lead to eight, 67-59, with 2 minutes, 58 seconds left to play, but could get no closer.

The nonconference win gave Morehead a 9-8 record for the season. Georgia State fell to 7-9.

Returning to OVC action Saturday night, Western Kentucky hosts Tennessee Tech, Murray entertains Morehead and Eastern Kentucky visits Austin Peay.

In other Kentucky college basketball, Kentucky Wesleyan downed visiting Southwest Missouri 86-74 and Georgetown trimmed Union 72-62.

Kentucky Wesleyan, led by Mike Darrett with 28 points, took a 6-0 lead in the first 90 seconds, widened the margin to 40-34 at the half and roared to a 21-point lead, 74-53, with 7:08 remaining.

Wesleyan is now 10-6 for the season. Southwest Missouri, led

Monday night by Scott Hawk with 20 points and 21 rebounds, fell to 9-10.

Georgetown got 28 points from Andy Williams on the way to the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference victory over Union.

Union, led by Mike Sammons with 26 points, cut the visitors' lead to 47-39 with 9:39 remaining but could get no closer.

The win gave Georgetown a 7-1 KIAC record and a 19-4 mark overall. Union slipped to 4-6 in the conference and 7-14 for the season.

Eighth Grade Tigers Romp

North Seventh Graders Nip Tigers In Overtime

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

There was some good news and bad news for Murray Middle School Monday night.

First the good news: The eighth grade Tigers closed their regular season by establishing a new school record.

The run-and-gun Black and Gold easily won a 79-32 contest from host North Elementary and in scoring the high total, set a new Middle School point record for one contest.

And now the bad news: Two young men named Timmy Graham and Terry Paschall who play at their best when they are under pressure.

And because of their play, they gave the North seventh graders a thrilling 30-28 win over Murray Middle, spoiling the Tigers' near-perfect season.

Graham put the Lakers into the overtime by firing up a 20-footer at the end of regulation play. And then just as the horn sounded in the extra three-minute period, Paschall took a pass from little Guy Furr and watched his 12-footer bounce high in the air and fall back through the twine, giving the Lakers the win.

In a previous meeting at Murray Middle, the Tigers took a hard-fought win, pulling away in the final period from the stubborn Lakers.

But last night, it was a different story as it was nip and tuck all the way.

The largest lead in the game, for either team, came at intermission as North led 14-10.

With 1:17 left in the fourth period, the Tigers were leading 23-20 but a 15-footer by Furr put the Lakers to within one.

The score remained the same until when with 11 seconds left, Furr intentionally fouled Bo Reed who missed the first shot but hit the second to give the Tigers a 24-22 lead.

Paschall tried a five-footer with three seconds left and there was a jump ball on the rebound between he and Bob Daniels of the Tigers. Paschall controlled the tip and Graham ripped in his 20-footer, sending the contest into the extra period.

Reed opened the scoring in the overtime by scoring on a drive but Graham tied it with a basket of his own.

Then with 58 seconds left, boardhorse Nicky Swift bulled his way under and put in a rebound shot, giving Murray Middle a 28-26 edge. But the Lakers knotted the count 13 seconds later when Keith Edwards cashed in on two charity tosses.

Murray Middle held the ball until when with six seconds left, Kenny Bogard tried a 10-footer from the left side. The ball went in and out and the Lakers got the rebound and called time.

Following a mixup on the clock and a couple of discussions, play resumed and Furr fired his pass to Paschall who smacked in the game-winning shot, sending the North student body into a frenzy.

The loss for Murray Middle ends the Tiger season at 8-2 while North now goes to 6-1 for the campaign.

Swift paced the scoring for Murray with 15 while Bo Reed, who played an outstanding game, added nine.

For the Lakers, Graham and Paschall each tossed in 11 points.

The eighth grade game was no contest.

By the time North scored its first basket at the 1:17 mark of the opening period, Murray already had 16 points on the board and the game was out of reach.

At the end of the quarter, the Tigers had a whopping 20-2 bulge.

North came alive in the second period and put 14 points on the board. But the Tigers didn't let up and they kept plugging away, going into the locker room at halftime with a 46-16 cushion.

In the final half, the Tigers outscored the Lakers 33-16 to run the final margin of victory to 47 points.

Guard Thomas Kendall paced the scoring for the Tigers with 21 points while Jon Alexander added 15, Ed Harcourt 14, Lee Hopkins 10 and Jeff Kursave nine.

Rogers paced North with 14 while Cunningham added eight. The win leaves Murray with an 8-2 mark for the season. North drops to 0-8 for the year.

Coach Lee Hook of the Tigers gave special recognition to the following players: Ed Harcourt (19 rebounds), Lee Hopkins (11 rebounds), Thomas Kendall, Jon Alexander and Brad Taylor.

For the season, the Middle School eighth graders averaged 49 points while holding their opponents to 32.

The Tigers will be playing in a tourney at Marshall County on February 14 and 15.

Unheralded Gary Groh Captures Hawaiian Open

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — Arnie's down. But he ain't out. Not by a long shot.

The disappointment of still another victory that escaped — and this one was so tantalizingly close — is forgotten. His head is up, his game is in gear, his confidence is building and growing and Arnold Palmer is seeking his next title just as eagerly, just as anxiously, just as confidently as ever.

"I've had disappointments before," the 45-year-old Palmer said after he had charged into a late tie for the top, then let obscure Gary Groh escape with the title Monday in the $220,000

Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament.

"I'm not gonna quit or give up just because I lost a golf tournament," Palmer continued, "I've lost a lot of golf tournaments. And I've had my disappointments before. I've had lots of disappointments in my life."

"But that's history now. But I'm playing better now than I have in two years, maybe three or four years. That's encouraging."

"But that's past. Now I'm looking forward to Wednesday. I'll be ready."

That's the start of the 90-hole, five-day Bob Hope Desert Classic in Palm Springs, Calif.

Vols' Title Hopes Jolted Twice

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

"We should have won," declared angry Tennessee Coach Ray Mears, who had already had enough aggravation for one day.

"Auburn just has to be lucky. Kentucky came in here with one of the finest teams in the U.S. and didn't win ... but we should have won."

Mears was fuming after his 15th-ranked Volunteers, playing without freshman star Bernard King, dropped a 62-59 decision at Auburn. School officials ordered King out of action earlier in the day after questions were raised about his junior high school academic records.

The former New York schoolboy star was averaging almost 28 points a game — tops in the Southeastern Conference.

"We should have won without King," Mears insisted. "We played a superior ballgame. When you're outweighted by 20 pounds and out-heighted by three inches ... we just couldn't play any better."

Asked about the situation with King, Mears snapped, "We were told at one o'clock this afternoon not to use him. That's all. We were just told not to use him."

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 1 Indiana romped past Michigan 74-48. No. 5 Kentucky slipped by Louisiana State 77-76. No. 7 Alabama defeated Vanderbilt 86-72. No. 12 North Carolina beat South Florida and No. 19 Rutgers trimmed Gettysburg 97-67.

Tennessee held a five-point lead, 55-50, with 6½ minutes left against Auburn. The Vols went into a stall but reserve Danny Cox scored six straight points in the waning minutes to pull it out for the Tigers. Cox, filling in for injured star Eddie Johnson, wound up with 14 points, while Ernie Grunfeld led the Vols with 22.

"The loss of King was very damaging," admitted Auburn Coach Bob Davis. "This was a game Tennessee needed to win. They would have been in good position in the SEC race, but now it's just wide open."

Auburn is now 8-2 in the conference and 13-4 over-all. Tennessee is 7-3 and 12-4.

Indiana raced to its 24th straight victory, 21 of them this season, despite a slowdown attempt by Michigan. Bob Wilkerson led the balanced Hoosiers' attack with 18 points.

Kentucky, 16-2, held off LSU at Baton Rouge behind Jimmy Dan Conner and Kevin Grevey, who netted 17 points apiece. Glenn Hansen led the Tigers, who made up seven of an eight-point deficit in the closing minutes, with 28 points.

Charles Cleveland scored 22 points and Leon Douglas had 19 for Alabama, 16-2. The Tide led by 19 at the half and coasted home.

Calloway Girls Spring Upset On Murray High

The Calloway County girls varsity stunned visiting Murray High Monday night 35-32 and claimed their second win of the season.

In the preliminary game, the Tiger freshmen coasted to a 56-44 win over the Lakers.

It was a close game all the way, with both teams enjoying leads of six points for the largest margin in the girls contest.

Calloway County won the game in the final period on foul shooting. The Lakers hit 10 of 14 charity attempts in the last frame. Leslie Wilferd, who scored 11 points for the Lakers, hit seven of eight free throws in the final two quarters.

Marilyn McKenzie was the leading scorer for Calloway with 12. For the Tigers, Cindy Jetton tossed in 10 while Mary Ann Littleton and Lynn Hewitt each scored six. Center Melissa Miller was not able to play.

When the two teams played earlier, the Tigers won 40-25. The Lakers go to 2-8 for the year while the Tigers slip to 7-3.

In the freshman game, the Lakers moved out to a 12-8 first period lead but couldn't hang on to it as the Tigers roared back in the second quarter to take a 26-20 lead at halftime.

Then in the third period, the Tigers outscored Calloway 14-10 and pulled out to a 10-point lead entering the last quarter.

Gilliam scored 17 to lead Murray while Garland added 13 and Perry and Bob Thurman each tossed in 11.

For the Lakers, Randy McCallon scored 11, Jimmy Lamb 9, Glen Olive eight and Danny Kingins eight.

With the win, the Tigers go to 6-3 while Calloway now is 2-6.

Oral Roberts Clips Racers 90-79

Overton Has New Optimism

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

Freddie Overton has a way to go before he catches up with Abraham Lincoln.

No, Freddie doesn't plan to be 6-4 or President or anything like that.

"I gotta bust of Lincoln on my desk," the Murray State basketball coach said.

"He failed 21 times before he ever won anything."

Overton, in his first year of coaching at Murray, won six times before he ever lost anything. And now, it's a streak of a different nature.

Visiting Oral Roberts University, one of the top college teams in the nation, handed Murray a 90-79 setback Monday night in the Sports Arena and saddled the Racers with their eighth consecutive loss.

For most of the first half and for a while in the second half, it appeared the Racers might snap their skid. But then 6-6 sophomore guard Grover Woolard, who was in the process of having one of his best games of the season, turned an ankle and sat out the rest of the game.

"It had to have some effect," Overton said, of the loss of Woolard.

"He's one of our few experienced players. He was having a great game and really drilling from outside against their zone. I'm not looking for an alibi, I don't believe in that, but when he or Jesse Williams or Larry Moffett are out of the game, it takes a lot away from us."

Overton had a plan to win the game. And for the first half, it worked great. And it worked great until the time Woolard was injured and the Titans then sprinted out to a 12-point lead.

After that, Overton had to say goodbye to his plan.

"It was a great game plan," Overton said.

"We were really set up for these people. We spent many, many hours today watching film. We started out with a triangle-in-two defense where we tried to defend their strong points. We figured if they were going to score, they would do it off their weak points."

"We got great results. It was the best defensive deployment we've had all year. Had we not have given them a couple of baskets off our offense, we could have well led by 15 points or more at halftime. We had it scientifically figured down to the nth degree."

"It did appear that way. Early in the game, the Racers were doing just about everything right (with the exception of too many turnovers) and were coasting along with an 18-10 lead."

Oral Roberts did not get its first lead until the 7:49 mark of the half when they went up 31-30.

But the Racers stayed right on the heels of the rampaging Titans and at intermission, trailed just 43-41.

In the second half, the Racers tied the count at 47-all. Then 6-5 Anthony Roberts, who scored a game-high 26 points, cashed in on a 10-footer and the Titans never trailed again.

For the last 10 minutes, Oral Roberts' lead varied anywhere from eight to 12 points.

"We got down 10 points and had to abandon our planned defense," Overton said.

"We had to try and play a pressure defense and come up with the ball. But when we go to the pressure, we're really at the other team's mercy because they are able to take the ball inside so easily."

"We just don't have the people who can play full-court pressure; they aren't in our starting lineup."

Jesse Williams played another super game for the Racers, firing in 11 of 14 floor shots for 23 points to pace the Murray State scoring attack.

The 6-6 junior forward also grabbed seven rebounds off the boards, second only to 6-8 sophomore center Larry Moffett who had 11 rebounds.

"We were trying to get the ball to Jesse," Overton said.

"We put him on the high-post, the baseline and the wing. But we have other people who can shoot too."

"Tommy Wade's a great shooter. He shot a couple of shots that didn't go down. But one of these nights he's gonna break loose and show people just how good he is."

"His intention is to run the show and get the ball inside. We have four men under who are capable of scoring 20 points any night. But being a freshman and coming in against the top players in the country, he's doing a miraculous job."

Though Oral Roberts is undoubtedly the top drawing card on the Racer schedule, only 4,800 fans showed up for the contest. But Overton wasn't disappointed.

"I appreciate all of the support. The fans are riding with us and they hurt just as much as we do. One night we're gonna explode for them."

"I still think right now that we can win every game on our schedule. There's one thing I'd like to point out about this group and that's their character."

"It takes a lot of character for anybody in any profession to give all they got and still they don't get the reward they want. That's one of the great lessons in life; learning to come back from defeat."

"The kids have been super. They come to practice early and they are eager and willing to learn. I just wished I had some magical formula I could come up with that would insure them a victory."

With the lights darkened in the gym and the only sound being an occasional cup rolling down an empty aisle, Overton seemed to find some light in the situation.

"I wanna tell ya, one day we're gonna win. And I don't mean just one game. I mean a bunch of 'em. We have the corps for a great team, one with good talent and a great heart."

"We just need a good recruiting year. I have faith in Coach Calvin (Jim Calvin, the chief recruiter and assistant to Overton), in others and myself."

"We have some great kids on the line for next year. The philosophy of the administration is to recruit local kids. If we could just get five people within a 50-mile radius of Murray plus one of the big kids from the Chicago-Gary area that Calvin is looking at, with what we got coming back, then we can win next year.

"I won't say how many we can win next year. But I will say that the year after that, we'll be set where we can contend for the conference title from then on."

"If people just stay with us and give us the support... that's the key."

The next chance for the people to stay with the Racers and give them the support will come Saturday when Murray hosts Eastern Kentucky, a team that won a 104-95 game over the Racers in Richmond.

"If we come in here and play against Eastern Saturday and don't get in any foul trouble inside and don't get any injuries, I think we'll beat them. And I think we'll beat Morehead Monday too."

Eight straight losses, 8-10 overall and 1-6 in the Ohio Valley Conference. And even with all that working against him, Fred Overton has hope.

Like the ancient proverb: A misty morning does not signify a cloudy day.

The sun is going to break through. And it just might be a nice weekend.

Larry McNeill Scores 26 To Pace Kings' Win Over 76ers

By BOB GREENE

AP Sports Writer

Larry McNeill went wild against the Philadelphia 76ers, hitting career highs in scoring and rebounding. But he was more impressed with what happened on the other end of the court.

"No question this was my best game," the National Basketball Association sophomore said after leading the Kings to a 100-87 victory over the 76ers. "But I'm more satisfied with my defense. That's what I've been working on."

In the only other NBA game Monday, the Boston Celtics ripped the Detroit Pistons 114-100.

In the American Basketball Association, Virginia defeated San Diego 107-92 and Utah clipped the New York Nets 111-106.

BASEBALL

NEW YORK — Manager Bucky Harris and players Billy Herman and Earl Averill were named to the Baseball Hall of Fame by the veterans' committee, joining home run slugger Ralph Kiner, admitted by the Baseball Writers Association.

McNeill played his college ball at Marquette for Coach Al McGuire, which explains his defensive outlook. Last year, Kings Coach Phil Johnson would bring McNeill off the bench to harass an opponent attempting to pass the ball inbounds.

Monday, it was the 76ers who were looking for somebody to harass McNeill. The search was unsuccessful.

Against Philadelphia, he scored 26 points and hauled in 18 rebounds as the Kings posted their first victory over the 76ers in four meetings this season.

With McNeill working the inside and Nate Archibald driving through and shooting over the 76ers, Kansas City-Omaha jumped out to a 20-15 first-period lead. The Kings outscored the 76ers 8-2 to open the second quarter and never trailed. Doug Collins led Philadelphia with 24 points.

Celtics 114, Pistons 100
JoJo White scored 29 points as the Celtics ran off their 10th consecutive victory and their 20th on the road against only three losses. The loss snapped Detroit's seven-game home winning streak.

Don Nelson added 19 to the Boston total, including the 10,000th point of his career, while Bob Lanier had 27 and Dave Bing 26 for the Pistons.

Squires 107, Q's 92
With George Irvine pumping in nine straight field goals, the Squires pulled away from San Diego in the second half for an easy victory.

Irvine finished with 18 points while David Vaughn and Mike Jackson led the Squires with 23 and 22 points, respectively. High for the Q's were Bo Lamar with 22 and George Adams with 20.

The victory was Virginia's third straight after losing 15 in a row.

Stars 111, Nets 106
Utah, behind Ron Boone and rookie Moses Malone, broke a three-game losing streak despite a 40-point performance by New York's Julius Erving.

Boone scored 30 points and Malone added 29 while pulling down 18 rebounds. The rookie, who graduated from high school last spring, was honored with a Moses Malone Night and responded with a 19-point second half.

The Nets pulled to within 107-106 with six seconds left in the game before John Roche's free throws sealed the Utah victory.

Frick Urges Farmers Take Firm Stand In Talk At ASCS Meeting

Kentucky farm program officials from the Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) met January 29 and 30 at the Galt House, Louisville, to discuss better service for farmers, farm programs, and the image of the farmer in today's urban society.

Attending the meeting from Calloway County were David E. Riley, Jr., County Executive Director, Ollie C. Hall, Katie Outland, Susie Frizell and Mildred Robertson, Program Assistants.

Many interesting speakers were heard during the two-day confab, but the principal speaker was Kenneth E. Frick, Administrator, ASCS.

Frick told the nearly 500 attending that agriculture is the least subsidized and the most forward segment of our economy. He urged the farmer-commitment to retreat old farm programs. "I ask all farmers to take a firm stand against controls and government payments, and against all of the other interferences that centralize decision-making and mean more government and less independence."

Frick called for a recycling of basic ideals of the country's heritage stating "that new approaches are needed for new problems." He also called for the "revival of integrity, independence, and the work ethic in the nation." "Our past farm policies cost this nation billions of dollars in payments, billions in food aid, and billions in storage costs—without achieving farm family incomes equal to the non-farm sector, without appreciably increasing the world's food security, and without truly protecting the farmer. The farmers I have talked with never want to return to the system of Washington determining their farming patterns or to get back into a cheap food policy."

ASCS' top official continues, "ASCS can be very proud of its role in helping move decision-making back to the farm where it belongs. I have only praise for the work of ASCS people. ASCS is the best service agency in government in responding to needs, and farmers view ASCS as being very capable of serving agriculture."

Frick indicated he thoroughly enjoyed his Kentucky visit and characterized the ASCS employees here as "energetic, bright, and responsive."

Other speakers during the conference included Victor Senechal and Merrill Marxman, ASCS, Washington; Wendell Butler, Commissioner, Kentucky Department of Agriculture; Barney Arnold, Farm Director, WHAS Radio & TV; Jack Crowner, Farm Director, WAVE-TV; Fred Durr, President, National Association of Farmer-elected Committees; representatives from other agricultural agencies, and a Kentucky county committeeman and county office employees.

James C. Finley, Sr., Monroe County, is chairman of the Kentucky State ASC Committee and Carl E. Dohn, Jefferson County, is a member. Homer V. Yonts, Lexington, is the State Executive Director.

Army War On Birds Halted In Courts

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP) — The Army's war on blackbirds roosting at Fort Campbell has been delayed in the courtroom and today brought a threat of more litigation.

Hopkinsville Mayor George Atkins Jr., said if a court order against spraying is upheld, he'll file a countersuit against two New York-based organizations that brought the litigation.

An order in U. S. District Court in Washington set back plans for spraying the 27-acre roosts, pending a hearing Friday. The complaint was filed by the Society for Animals' Rights, Inc., and Citizens for Animals.

Atkins says he's sorry that a "handful of people living far away can control the situation in Christian County." He added he's against protecting the birds which he said are hazardous to crops, livestock and health of the people.

The Washington order blocks similar spraying plans in Paducah and two counties in Tennessee.

The suit challenged the adequacy of the Army's environmental impact statement and further contended the Interior Department should have filed a statement.

The Army had planned to spray a detergent, Tergitol, on the roosts to wipe away the protective oil covering from the birds' wings. Before the court order was issued, officials said the spraying could start as soon as the weather was favorable.

The Army contends the birds are hazardous to health, crops and aviation.

Burley Prices, Volume Up; Only Two Markets Open

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Burley tobacco prices and volume increased as sales opened for the week, though auctions were held at only two markets in Kentucky.

Farmers sold a total of 1,556,035 pounds of burley Monday for an average of $94.04 per hundred pounds.

The average at Carrollton was $96.41 per hundred pounds for the day's volume of 158,286 pounds.

At Lexington, the largest market in the eight-state burley belt, 1,397,749 pounds of leaf brought an average of $93.77 per hundred pounds.

Average price and volume Monday were higher than on the final day of sales last week.

Fire Destroys Cabana Club In Paducah

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — An early morning fire destroyed the Cabana Club Tuesday, with estimates of the loss ranging from $300,000 to $1 million.

Fire Chief Leon Dodge said the blaze, reported about 1:35 a.m., hit the kitchen, dining room, lounge, all the offices and part of the convention center.

Dodge estimated the loss at $300,000 to $500,000 while the club's assistant manager, John Teas, said it might run in excess of $1 million.

Teas said the club was closed Monday and no one was in the building.

He also indicated the owner, Charles E. Story, planned to rebuild the club, first opened in 1961.

The Cabana was closed in 1964, reopened a few months later, was shut down again in 1966, and reopened in 1971. Originally, the one-story building's facilities included a 16-lane bowling alley that later yielded to a convention center, with a seating capacity of about 1,300 persons.

Story, who also owns a construction firm, acquired the property from Memphis businessman Charles Kittle in the 1960s.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Rogers, two daughters, Mrs. Michael (Beverly) Shelton and Miss Lisa Rogers, one son, Michael Glen Rogers, one granddaughter, Kimberly Jo Shelton, and one brother, Eugene Rogers, all of Murray Route Seven; two sisters, Mrs. Robert L. (Freda) Burton of Murray Route Six and Mrs. J. O. (Elsie) Crist of Lakeland, Fla.

Americans Face Further Erosion Of Standard Of Living, Ford Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans face further erosion of their standard of living, higher unemployment and perpetually higher energy costs, President Ford's economic report to Congress said today.

"The American economy was built on the basis of low-cost energy ... this era has now come to an end," Ford said in a message accompanying the report.

The report also said the decline in the nation's economy was so steep in the fourth quarter of last year that the administration cannot promise a quick rebound in the nation's economy this year.

But the President's Council of Economic Advisers, which prepared the report, still expects the economy will "move on to the road to recovery" in the second half of 1975, following another steep decline with high unemployment and high inflation in the first half.

"The most pressing concern of policy is to halt the decline in production and employment so that growth of output can resume and unemployment can be reduced," they said.

But the report left no doubt that the Ford administration has given up hope of bringing world oil prices anywhere near the lower prices of just 18 months ago. In fact, Ford said most domestic oil is at "artificially low prices" that must be raised.

Teas said the club was closed Monday and no one was in the building.

He also indicated the owner, Charles E. Story, planned to rebuild the club, first opened in 1961.

The Cabana was closed in 1964, reopened a few months later, was shut down again in 1966, and reopened in 1971. Originally, the one-story building's facilities included a 16-lane bowling alley that later yielded to a convention center, with a seating capacity of about 1,300 persons.

His advisers said some protection must be established to keep domestic prices high enough to protect new investment in other costly energy sources.

The consequences of the higher energy prices will mean further hardship for Americans, the report said.

"A reduction in standards of living and potential output compared to what we would otherwise enjoy is inevitable ... the report said, although it added that the economic and energy program is designed to hold such effects to a minimum.

Like Ford's $349 billion fiscal 1976 budget that was submitted to Congress Monday, the 384-page economic report painted a gloomy outlook for the economy.

Ford, who refused to recognize the economy was in a recession until two months ago, said in the first words of his message, "The economy is in a severe recession. Unemployment is too high and will rise higher."

Unemployment is expected to rise to an average 8 per cent in 1975, up from an average 5.6 per cent in 1974. Ford said despite this, the nation must live with higher unemployment than it would like because of the danger of inflation.

"It is vital that we look beyond the unemployment problem to the need to achieve a reduction in inflation not only in 1975 but also in 1976 and beyond," Ford said.

Ford's advisers also predicted: —A decline in real economic output — as measured by the Gross National Product — of about 3 per cent on top of the 2.2 per cent decline last year.

Inflation, as measured by the GNP, of 11 per cent, although declining from a mid-year high to a rate of about 7 per cent in the fourth quarter.

Both undergraduate and graduate students enrolled for at least a one-half academic credit loan are eligible to apply. To qualify, an applicant must establish a need for financial assistance as determined by federal guidelines and regulations and show evidence of academic promise.

S. G. Hale, fiscal officer in the Student Financial Aid Office, said NDSL repayments are made on a quarterly schedule over a 10-year period, with the first obligation due one year after leaving school. Deferment or repayment can be given to borrowers who choose to continue their education or who choose military, Peace Corps, or VISTA service.

Teachers in special education or in designated poverty areas may have a percentage of their loan repayment obligation canceled each year — with cancellation of the entire loan, plus interest, possible in five years.

All transactions during the obligation period are handled by the Student Financial Aid Office. Further inquiries about the NDSL Program or requests for application forms should be directed to: Student Financial Aid Office, Administration Building,
